Exhibiting at the 2007 APA Congress gives the WorkForce Software team the opportunity to speak with attendees in the payroll industry and learn about their needs. Attendees can participate in a demonstration of EmpCenter and discuss the benefits of automating workforce management practices.

EmpCenter, a web-based solution, streamlines time and attendance data collection, and ensures compliance for complex business policies and regulations with its data-driven rules engine. Customers also benefit from the combined knowledge of WorkForce consultants, who not only implement the solution, but provide a detailed analysis of payroll processes and best practices so employers are in compliance with state and federal regulations, including those focused on the Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA) and the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA). By automating time and attendance processes, companies will typically see a return on investment within a year of deploying the software – reducing data entry errors, using less resources, spending less time, and increasing productivity during the payroll process results in a major cost savings.

Over the years, WorkForce Software has taken the opportunity to donate funds to various cancer charities. WorkForce Software makes a donation for every badge swiped during the conference. Stop by the WorkForce Software booth so you can make a difference in cancer research and prevention.
